

SDS received ten new orders in six countries during the summer

During the summer, SDS won ten new orders worth SEK 4.1 million. The orders received are from existing customers and leading mobile operators based in Bissau, Nigeria, Rwanda, Ghana, Iraq and the United Arab Emirates.

SDS' business activity has witnessed a surge during the summer months. In addition to the two orders previously announced, SDS has received ten new orders from six existing customers since July 15. The deals include software functionalities, adding new capacities to operationally critical platforms that facilitate digital distribution of electronic top up. The delivery will be performed remotely by SDS, enabled by a standardized and modular platform that enables the team to work and support customers by relying only on internet connectivity.

"It is very encouraging to see that the majority of our customers buy our services even during a period when activity is normally low. I see it as a strong proof that they see opportunities to differentiate in their markets and also see SDS as a natural and trusted partner who can help them in difficult times with fast and reliable solutions. I am especially proud of our efforts to standardize our products, and of our operational processes that prove to be of great value for the ability to deliver quickly and without having to travel," says Tommy Eriksson, CEO of SDS AB.

These orders include software and services to add new functionality and capacity to existing platforms and are expected to contribute to revenue during the third quarter of this year. The reason for adding new functionality is for the operators to differentiate their offer in their markets and reduce time to market to enable their distributors and resellers to offer faster and better services for their mobile subscribers.
